I am Waldviertel

12 January – 9 March 2019

I am Waldviertel is a documentary about two sisters in the rural Waldviertel region in Austria by multi-award winning photographer Carla Kogelman.

In 2012, Carla Kogelman was commissioned by Szene Bunte Wähne, a youth theatre festival in Austria, to make a documentary about the rural Waldviertel region. She ended up in Merkenbrechts, a small bio village of 170 inhabitants, where she met Hannah and Alena, two sisters who spend much of their time together in a carefree life of swimming, playing outdoors, engrossed in games around the house. Kogelman decides to follow the family and returns regularly. Her original, superb and right on the skin black & white photography of the children resulted in many prestigious awards like the 2018 World Press Photo 1st prize long-term project, the 2017 Alfred Fried Photography Award (winner), the 2014 World Press Photo 1st Prize People – Observed Portraits Stories and the 2014 Cortona On The Move Happiness Award.

In the spring of 2017, Schilt Publishing started discussing a book publication with Carla Kogelman. This has resulted in the book I Am Waldviertel, printed in October 2018 and released about a month later.

Prices include VAT. Frames, fitted with a mount and museum glass, may be purchased at an extra costs of €200, or €300 each for the larger sized prints. Bigger sizes are available, prices on request. Smaller sizes are not available.
